

Put Yourself at the Centre of Scientific Discovery...

Kent's life sciences sector has created some of the most revolutionary and world-renowned medicines in existence and continues to innovate and discover for tomorrow's world.

Pfizer, Viatrix, Diasorin, Jazz Pharmaceuticals, Smiths Medical and over 2,015 other life science sector companies have made Kent and Medway their home over the years, putting the county on the map as a key location for UK science: from bio-tech, pharmaceuticals and diagnostics to global science logistics, med-tech manufacturers and contract research organisations.

Two of the UK's leading science parks – Discovery Park and Kent Science Park – allow businesses access to high-quality labs and state-of-the-art facilities while benefiting from more affordable and cost-effective rates, compared to London, just 1 hour away.

In addition to Discovery Park, a 220-acre science and technology campus, designated as one of six life science opportunity zones, there is Kent Science Park in Sittingbourne – part of the UK wide Pioneer Group science park family with further clusters developing at Innovation Park, Medway and Kent Medical Campus in Maidstone. As of March 2024, some 65,500 jobs are supported by the life sciences sector in the region..

Kent's science parks and universities have also shaped a collaborative environment in the region where students, scientists and business professionals can thrive through research, development and innovation. These local initiatives coupled with dedicated undergraduate courses and the new Kent & Medway Medical School will ensure that you can find the right staff, trained to professional standards and with an understanding of the latest life science challenges.

Thanks to the county's strategic location between Europe and the 'Golden Triangle' of London, Oxford and Cambridge, your business will be fully immersed in a vibrant and international scientific community.
